Supervisors Vote To Assist Tony Bourgeois

Long discussed resolution requesting a local and private bill from the board of supervisors for additional financial aid to Tony Bourgeois, injured in 1958 while serving as night watchman, was passed by a 3-2 vote Wednesday morning.

Before passing the resolution requested by local attorney Walter James Phillips and backed by the local League of Women Voters, Jaycees and American Legion, the board reviewed testimony from former sheriff Sylvan Jack Ladner and former clerk A. C. Mitchell who were in office at the time of Bourgeois' beating.

On a motion by Beat 3 Supervisor Charles Lavinghouse, seconded by Beat 2 Supervisor L. M. Frierson, the Board will request Representative Clarence Ladner to introduce a bill enabling it to extend financial aid not exceeding $1,200 to Bourgeois. The motion was supported by Beat 4 Supervisor James Neale. Opposed were Hubbard and Charles Russ of Beat 1.

Phillips noted that although Bourgeois had been suspended shortly before he was injured by two escaping prisoners, at the time of his injury he was on duty, was employed by the county and was receiving county pay. Former sheriff Ladner concurred with the statement.

Ladner testified that during a night before his beating, Bourgeois did not respond to a knock on the jail door. After opening the door, Ladner said he told him, "I've told you before if you can't stay awake and be more alert, someone is going to get hurt." Bourgeois reported he was not asleep and that Ladner had not knocked. "He asked me if I wanted the keys now I could have them, I told him, 'If you can't do what I tell you, you can give them to me.'" He did and

Local Men Appointed By Barnett

Alden Mautray, Lloyd J. Ladner and Joseph V. Colson were appointed yesterday by Gov. Ross Barnett to be Hancock County's members of the newly created Mississippi Seafood Commission. The appointments were made immediately after the governor signed the bill reorganizing the commission.

The new law abolishes the present five-member commission, replacing it with a 10-member body, three members from each coast county plus a marine biologist, and provides the new commission broader powers over the seafood industry. Others appointed by Barnett yesterday were William G. Simpson Jr., Gulfport; Charles E. Weems, Biloxi; Michael J. Sekul, Biloxi; George Brumfield, Moss Point; Henry Hultz, Pascagoula; Mayor Champ Gay, Ocean Springs.

Colson was appointed to serve four years, Ladner for three years and Mautray for two.

Pleads Guilty In Ward Death

Floyd Henry Jessup was sentenced to life in the state penitentiary after pleading guilty to the murder of Tyburt Francis Ward before Judge Leslie B. Grant in Circuit Court Wednesday, 10, 1958, on U. S. 90 about 10 miles west of Bay St. Louis. He previously pleaded innocent.

On a plea of guilty to grand larceny in the theft of Ward's automobile and a number of firearms from his home on U. S. 90 near Bay St. Louis, Jessup got three years. He will be detained at the county jail until transferred to Parchman when the term ends.

Ward was found Dec. 7, about 24 hours after the killing by a neighbor, Leonce Rispoli, seated in a chair with two gaping holes in his head. It was later determined that one .45 caliber slug had entered the head, the other hole being blasted out by the impact. Jessup is alleged to have fled in Ward's car after leaving a note warning officers "Don't come looking for me, I've got a gun and lots of ammunition". He was arrested by FBI agents in Houston, Texas.

The case of State vs. Andrew White Johnson, who is charged with stealing a saddle valued at $40, resulted in a mistrial today when a 12-man jury failed to bring in a verdict after approximately two hours of deliberation and two secret ballots. The case will be retried Tuesday. Also set for trial Tuesday is another charge of theft of clothing from an automobile. Johnson was without legal representation today.

Today Leonard Rohella, Negro, pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the theft of $131.47 from the A. and G. Theater, and got three years suspended on good behavior. His attorney was Bidwell Adam of Gulfport, Rohella had no previous record.

In civil action Wednesday, a 12-man jury found for the plaintiff in the amount sued for, $10,000 in the case of Gary L. Price vs. Albert J. Tovey resulting from an accident March 10, 1958, on U. S. 90 about 10 miles west of Bay St. Louis. Price was a passenger in a car driven by Tovey returning from a trip to New Orleans. Both were residents of Mobile, Ala., at the time.

Members of the jury were Leslie Craft, Leo F. Garriga, Pat Koenen, Norbert M. Brune, I. D. Boykin, Xavier Necaise, Noel T. Haas, Woodrow Carbonett, Prentiss Ladner, Saul J. Cuevas, W. J. Carbonette, Alex Ladner; alternates: Claude E. Cuevas and Warren J. Sick; bailiffs: Leon Favre and Jenise Necaise.

Alexander Bush, charged with stealing a 1960 Ford from Bay Motors, Inc., last November, changed his plea to guilty and is scheduled for sentence Monday.

Jerry Sladen, 21, who was wanted on three counts of grand larceny, was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. Bail was set at $1,000 on each count. Date of trial has not been announced. Bobby Slaydon, brother of Jerry, was sentenced to one year each on two counts of burglary and larceny. A charge of receiving stolen property was not pressed.

Otha Slaydon, grandfather of the two Slaydons, arraigned last Monday for receiving stolen property pleaded not guilty and will be tried Monday.

WOOD FIRES - More than 13,000 acres of timberland in southeast Mississippi were ravaged by fire during the weekend including 539 acres in Hancock County, according to forestry officials. This picture was taken on U. S. 90 near the beach.

Weekend Forest Fire Toll Heavy in County

Fanned by strong winds, 15 fires destroyed 564 acres of timberland in Hancock County between last Saturday and Tuesday, Area Forester Marion Parker has reported.

Saturday, March 19, was by far the worst day, he said, with nine separate fires razing 539 acres. Winds up to 23 miles an hour made control difficult. From Sunday through Tuesday, six more blazes destroyed 25 acres, easing up somewhat as the week wore on.

In the 16-county southeastern forestry district of Mississippi, 13,000 acres were badly burned over the weekend, Parker continued, necessitating assistance by firefighters from North Mississippi to augment local crews. Both Harrison and Jackson Counties have suffered heavily this month, with a residence, barn and two tractors destroyed in Jackson which was the hardest hit with 3,000 acres burned in one fire alone. In Forrest County, one crew leader suffered second and third degree burns in fighting the blazes.

In the period from March 1 to 14, about 50 fires destroyed 1,033 acres in Hancock County. Parker pleaded for anyone doing control or debris burning to notify the Rocky Hill Fire Tower at HO7-4811 and to check proper fire lanes and other precautions to keep the fires within their own boundaries.

One fire in Waveland Tuesday destroyed between 12 and 15 acres, Parker added.

Let Us Know

We never met anyone we believe was always correct in their opinion. We know we must be incorrect in our opinion our share of the time, although factually we record, we think, a pretty good average — still not perfect.

One of our recent editorials caused several people to comment to us, by a slight majority agreeing with our opinion but including some very strong disagreements. While one use of an editorial page is to express the editor's opinion, another is to let the public express theirs.

For reasons we think are practical, letters to the editor must be signed by the writer, although on request we will not print the name. Some papers insist on printing the writer's name, but the Echo as of now does not.

We welcome letters we can print as "Letters to the Editor". We particularly welcome those that disagree with our expressed views. In that way the public can make use of the opinion page of this paper.

Who Knows What?

On Jan. 4 of this year Mr. K. G. McCarty took office as county superintendent of education for the second, but non-consecutive time. He was elected on Nov. 3, though for practical purposes his election was assured when he won the run-off Democratic primary on August 25.

On Jan. 16 Mr. McCarty recommended to the board of education that certain written records be kept relative to the school buses used to transport students to Hancock North Central school. The superintendent of North Central, Mr. R. E. Webb, was not present at the meeting, a customary procedure unless in advance he knows something specifically concerning North Central is to be considered.

Mr. McCarty's recommendation concerning the school buses of North Central was a good recommendation. Only one thing was wrong, it was already being done.

As county superintendent of education, why didn't Mr. McCarty KNOW what was being done at the major school under his administrative supervision.

WE MUST TRUST OUR PEOPLE

STATE TIMES, Tuesday, March 15, 1960

By OLIVER KEMMERICH

The fight in the Mississippi legislature over the legal county option bill is not one which will determine whether Mississippi shall be wet or dry.

The decision is one which will determine whether or not the people have the right to choose.

Our legislature, backed by the leaders of our state and this newspaper, have given strong support to the idea of states rights. Deep resentment has been expressed over the federal government's interference in state affairs.

The entire integration fight has been made around the proposition of states rights. Our Southern senators today are waging a filibuster to preserve these rights.

States rights stem from the grassroots level. We cannot enjoy states rights without first upholding county rights. The rights of people at the county level are the essential rights of local self government.

The reason why the present members of the legislature are in Jackson today is that the people in the 82 counties of the state have the right to choose. The people at the county level used their right to choose when they selected the legislators who must decide whether the right to choose shall be upheld or denied to the people.

Those who oppose the legal county option bill are opposing county rights. They are saying to the people of the counties: "You do not know what is best for your county. We will choose for you because we do not think you have the intelligence or moral stability to choose for yourself."

When we deny county rights to our fellow citizens we cannot conscientiously demand our states rights or complain when Washington tells us in substance that we do not have the right to choose.

The pending legal county option bill does not give the right of choice to the governor in this matter. It does not turn the right of choice over to a state department or to a state commission. It specifically gives the right of choice to the people at the county level.

When a legislator votes against the legal county option bill he in effect says to the people, "I trusted you to elect me but I cannot trust you to cope with this enormous problem."

We do not believe that our people are uninformed as to the status of liquor in Mississippi.

Our people know as much about this problem as do our legislators. Neither are they indifferent nor unconcerned. They have read grand jury reports such as the one recently made by the grand jury in Hinds County. They know that we have illegal county option. They know that the underworld controls this business. They know that no effort is made to prevent the sale of intoxicants to minors. They know that 825 alcoholic patients were admitted at Whitfield last year.

Severe pressure is being put upon our House members at this time, pressure exerted by some well-meaning individuals. But even these well-meaning individuals who are striving to halt the legislature's effort to take this liquor traffic out of the hands of the underworld are revealing a grievous lack of confidence in the people. The lobbyists are saying to the legislature, "We can't trust the mothers and fathers of our children. We don't trust the people and do not want you to give them the right to choose."

We of the State Times do trust the people. We hold that the people should have the right to choose. We believe that our legislators are inconsistent in demanding states rights when they refuse to grant county rights.

We trust the people and covet for them the right to choose.

Boat Numbering Law Effective Date Announced

Beginning April 1, boats of more than 10 horsepower operating in the navigable waters of the United States must be given Mississippi, but this state has not yet adopted its own numbering system. This includes a $3 Federal Boating Stamp to the application and return a temporary certificate to the applicant.

PLAN DAIRY FEEDING

Are your cows underfed? Most are. During 1958 the average Mississippi cow on DHA got less than half as much silage and hay as she could eat. And these cows were better fed than most.

It takes plenty of high quality roughage the year-round to produce milk on a paying basis. So plan now the grazing or grazing supplemented with hay or silage or both, that is needed.

Plan at least two tons of hay and three tons of silage for each cow in the herd.

If hay is the only forage besides pasture, count on three to four tons of hay for each cow. This should take care of heifer replacements.

If silage will supply most of the forage, eight to ten tons will be needed for each cow in addition to pasture. This will also take care of one heifer replacement for each four cows.

Improving the quality of the forage is the biggest help in getting cows to eat more. Even then it must be placed before the cow often enough for her to eat all she wants.

Plenty of easily available fresh water also helps the cow increase her forage consumption.

Grow your own forage. Either grow your other feeds or purchase them at the lowest prices. Prices on some feeds vary during the year. Watch for the low price period.

SUCCESSFUL CORN

1. Select your soil. Choose good land — land that will grow at least 60 bushels to the acre. Prepare it well.

2. Use a good recommended hybrid variety.

3. Fertilizer needed 500 to 600 pounds of 6-8-8 per acre.

4. Space your corn according to the fertility and water holding capacity of your soil.

5. Control weeds. Either do it by cultivation or chemically.

6. Side-dress your corn with 2 sacks of ammonia nitrate per acre when knee high.

Letters to The Editor

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

This might be called, "a Yankee Goes Home". When my wife and I decided to spend several months in the Deep South we naturally wrote for particulars. Immediately a flood of letters and pamphlets arrived extolling the beauty, weather, fishing and hospitality of the Bay St. Louis region. Among other things I brought along several hundred dollars worth of fishing tackle. We were fascinated, "moving" to 90, and so began our great adventure.

Several days after arrival the rains came, the cold came, the fish all left for parts unknown and it has been much the same ever since. Yes, it actually snowed — not like the beautiful, constant, slushy, slippery, cold, miserable, damnable snow back in Chicago, but a few delicate little flakes of precipitation unworthy of the name. I was assured this was most unusual, in fact, like it had happened in years. Surely next week will be bright sunny and warm, etc., etc. Fine upstanding men and beautiful women assured us this was so. They spoke not with forked tongues, but with straight faces and seemed deeply concerned. We just had to believe them honest and sincere, or you have the greatest Chamber of Commerce membership in all the world.

However, all these clouds had a silver lining. Outstanding has been the friendliness of our neighbors and others we were fortunate enough to meet. To name them would be impossible in a limited space, but we consider them among the finest people we have ever known, people anyone would be proud to call friends.

You may well be proud of your beautiful scenic drives, your fine homes and schools and your traditional Southern hospitality. We are going home, but memories of our nice vacation will remain with us always.

Very sincerely,
KENNETH C. GOODFRED

Holleman Says No Gambling

"There will be no professional gambling in Hancock County," said District Attorney Boyce Holleman, Monday after Circuit Court had recessed until today.

Holleman said that for the past five years grand juries in Gulf Coast counties had directed the elimination and suppression of organized and professional gambling.

"So far as I know, gambling has been gone for the past five years on the Coast," he said, "and I want it to stay that way. I have discussed the matter with new county officials, explaining actions of past grand juries and all have promised to cooperate to the fullest in eliminating organized gambling."

Seaford Appointees

Barnett set the organizational meeting for the new commission for March 31 at the Harrison county courthouse.

Still to be selected by the commission are the chief inspector and the chief inspector of seaford. Barnett and the seaford industry leaders were reportedly having a behind-the-scenes wrangle over who will be named chief inspector.

The governor was reportedly committed to appoint Jimmy Williams, Biloxi seaford man, to the post, but Williams' appointment met with objections from some other industry forces. Others in running for the spot include Leon Tootle, Biloxi policeman, and Johnnie Wilson, Biloxi man who formerly was engaged in fishing.

Recommended for assistant inspector is Clarence Moddy, Pascagoula.

All members of the commission must be confirmed by the Senate, along with both the chief inspector and the assistant inspector.

The new act gives the seaford commission power to lease waterbottoms in Mississippi sound to private individuals for development as oyster reefs.

It also gives the agency broader discretionary powers over regulating fishing seasons, size of catches, licensing of vessels, setting enforcement procedure and fixing of salaries for employees.

The final draft of the bill restored some of the existing seaford laws which would have been repealed by the original measure proposed in the House.

Culling regulations for oysters and shrimp were fixed at the present legal size.

Lader reported he had once before come upon Bourgeois asleep in a lounge chair in the jail with his pistol and keys lying beside him.

Bourgeois returned to work after Hubbard asked Lader if he could return with the lounge chair removed from the jail.

Hubbard commented he was not trying to infer Bourgeois was asleep when hurt, but that the county was in no way negligible for his injury.

Mitchell noted Bourgeois received his regular salary for three months after his injury as well as other additional compensation from the county.

Phillips reported Bourgeois' medical bills now were approximately $1,200 according to his family, although Hubbard noted a check revealed his hospital bill was about $500, adding he did not think the board should pay any more since it would set a precedent for payment to county employees not covered by insurance.

The board unanimously agreed with Hubbard's suggestion that county laborer pay be raised $1 although Necaise noted he would not be able to comply since his Beat 4 funds must be spread over such a large number of roadways. The optional pay raise will go into effect April 1.

In other matters resolution was adopted setting a prerequisite of one year's county residence before a person can be admitted to the county home.

Clerk Claiborne Lader was advised to obtain three local prices on repair of the Court-house Negro toilet flooring which was recommended by the grand jury. Replastering and repainting the interior of the Court-house, also recommended, was postponed until Lader can investigate funds available for payment.

It was agreed to join the Rivers and Harbors Association of Mississippi with payment of $59 annual dues. Dues are assessed on the basis of county population and water resource potential.

A request from Tax Assessor George Heitzmann for maps of new recognized subdivisions in order to check development was approved. Hubbard noted just because a subdivision is recognized that does not mean it is under county maintenance.

The board rejected two bids for a tractor for Beat 5 and agreed to readvertise for the equipment because of confusion over stated requirements in the previous ad. A proposed advertisement for a dragline for Beat 2 was approved.

Lader was requested to purchase new stationery for the board, while an additional $120 request from Roger Heitzmann, contractor for the county health center, because of an unscheduled change of interior paint colors was held for study.

The board adjourned to 9 a.m. Monday.

BEAUTY TIPS by Mercedes Spahr

BUSY HANDS. A million words of advertising poked fun at "dish-pan hands". Nowadays there's little excuse for unattractive hands—even the busiest ones, BUT - IT TAKES AN EXPERT. A salon manicure needn't be a luxury, or a desperate effort to remodel neglected hands in fifteen minutes. Even if you don't have a manicure every time you get a hairdo, plan on a professional manicure at least once a month. It takes an expert to soften cuticle, smooth away rough edges, find dainty half-moons at your fingertips. An artist can paint on polish so your fingers look longer, slimmer. And once your fingers have had a professional "do", it's easier for you to keep them nice longer. A NAIL TIP... Next time you touch up your nail polish, try this: Wipe away just a hair's breath of color from each nail tip. Polish lasts longer when the tips are free. Always extend the sides of your nails a sixteenth of an inch above your fingers... makes hands look longer and nails stay stronger. Girl Scout News

The annual Girl Scout cookie sale is in full swing, and the Girl Scout Council takes this opportunity to thank those who have supported this project and to urge those who have not yet been contacted, to seek out the Brownie or Girl Scout in your neighborhood. She will be happy to get your cookies to you.

Girls in Mrs. Marion Beal's Troop 6 recently enjoyed a trip to Gulfport.

We are including in our news this week a copy of a poem written by Mrs. Price Western, leader of Brownie Troop 100 on the occasion of the accident which recently befell Scout Patricia Thornton. We are happy to hear Pat is making good progress toward recovery.

ONE LITTLE BROWNIE
Our meeting is over, we all had fun;
But we've left the place cluttered;
there's work to be done,
I tell the Brownies, "I'd like to know
"Who'll clean the kitchen before we go?"
The lazy Brownies all keep still,
But one little Brownie says, "I will."

In the cookie sale each Brownie works
At doing her share; not one of them shirks,
But when I tell them to finish the chore
Our troop must sell 24 boxes more,
Discouraged Brownies all keep still,
But one little Brownie says, "I will."

In the Centennial play the Scouts have a spot,
Though the hour is late and the weather is hot,
They could count on us — until they said,
"Who wants to march in tomorrow's parade?"
Then tired little Brownies all keep still,
But one little Brownie says, "I will."

Our Council asked if we leaders per chance
Could recruit little Brownies to learn a French dance,
The Saturday lessons might be hard,
But somehow I don't consider it odd,
When most of the Brownies again keep still,
That one little Brownie says, "I will."
We look our best and we're ready to go

Attend Scout Meet

Five Girl Scouts from Senior Troop 1 of Bay St. Louis will attend the annual senior conference at Percy Quinn State Park near McComb this weekend. They are Paula Crider and Gail Stewart of Waveland and Ann Clark, Carol Western and Edith Traub of Bay St. Louis.

On Uncle Henry's TV show, we all feel strange. He says, "Don't talk."
"Who wants to be the first to talk?"
The scared little Brownies all keep still,
But one little Brownie says, "I will."

As one school session approaches its end,
We prepare to "fly up" all Brownies aged 10.
They're "over the bridge." I ask as they pause,
"Who'll lead in reciting the Girl Scout Laws?"
Our brand new Scouts are timid still,
But one little Girl Scout says, "I will."

And now we hear with deep concern,
Patricia has suffered a serious burn.
But Patricia has courage to fight and to win,
For Patricia isn't the type to give in.
She's a brave little Girl Scout, remembered still,
As that one little Brownie who said, "I will."

New Stamp Sales To Begin April 19

Supporters of the Hancock County Soil Conservation District and persons interested in commemorative stamps will be able to purchase a four-cent Water Conservation postage stamp locally starting April 19, Postmaster Andy Becker said today.

Although 120 million copies are being printed of the three-color water conservation stamp, the edition may not last long, Becker predicted. It is being issued at Washington, D. C. on April 18 as a tribute to conservation farmers and their local soil conservation districts and watershed projects.

"I'm sure that most everyone in the Hancock District will want to buy these colorful and historical stamps when they go on sale here," Andy said.

AT ALTAR BOYS DINNER - Sterling Balaski, president of the Holy Name Society at St. Clare's Catholic Church, Waveland, presents gold lapel cross to Rommie Ferrell during a dinner Thursday honoring the altar boys of the church for their services in the last year. Each boy received a cross. About 120 persons attended the dinner, prepared by the Holy Name Society and Blessed Virgin Sodality. The occasion also marked the birthday of the pastor, the Rev. M. J. Costello, who was surprised with a huge green and white decorated cake.

Waveland, Logtown Shoulda Gone Fishin'

BY EDDIE ENGELHORN

Spring has sprung, clear, sunny skies ushering in the first day Sunday bringing forth all kinds of fishermen, crabbers and ball players from nine to 90. Activity on the green trout front picked up considerably but speckled trout and other salt water species are still scarce. A west wind didn't help any. The old saying "When the wind is from the north, no fisherman goes forth." When the wind is from the south, blows the bait in fishes mouth. When the wind is from the east, that's when fishing is the least. When the wind is from the west, fishing is the best. Doesn't seem to hold true in these parts. A west wind blows muddy water from Pearl River in the Bay; of course, if you are interested in gaff tops that's the time to go.

A gentle south wind is our favorite for salt water fishing and when the weather is comfortable for humans it also seems to whet the fish's appetite. Early morning fishing for speckled trout is hard to beat, otherwise, the crest of a high tide is the thing. Redfish seem to like a rising tide while specks like a falling tide but in our case the best time to go fishing is when we have the time.

Jerome Carver and August Rauxet, two old pros, got the limit of green trout again over the weekend, one weighing more than four pounds. Haven't found their secret hole yet but we're getting close — found out they went in Mulatto Bayou.

T. T. Reboul was seen stocking up with two gallons of gas Tuesday at Bernie Piazza's for his first fishing trip of the season. Haven't been able to get any results.

Carmen (Miranda) Mitchell and Elmore (Quarterback) Povall are reported to have had a delicious supper of fish Friday night at Raymond Kidd's house. They (the fish) were caught by Raymond and Vic Fourer at the Jordan. On the menu also were shrimp and rice.

Rebel Riders Take Ribbons In Horse Shows

Six members of the Rebel Riders of the Lazy Y Stables won a total of 14 ribbons and four first place trophies at three horse shows in a busy weekend. Participating in the events were Miss Betty Younger, Fellers Drury, Ellen Allison, Arthur Miller Jr., Pat Miller and Bob Karl. Friday they took part in the Southern Mississippi Horse show in Hattiesburg; Saturday they journeyed to Audubon Park in New Orleans and Sunday they displayed their skills at Hurley, Miss., in the second annual Jackson County horse show.

Karl, 17, competing for the first time in such an event, won second place honors against professional riders in open bull and steer riding at the Jackson County show. As far as is known, he is the first rider from Hancock County to win a ribbon in this type of competition.

At the luncheon afterwards, Mrs. J. J. Lawrence, tournament chairman of Sunkist Country Club, invited the group to hold the April inter-city there and invited players to participate in a Scotch foursome tournament at Sunkist April 24. Luncheon hostess for next Tuesday's tournament at Pass Christian Isles is Mrs. Grady Riggan.

Logtown boys squad won 31-30 Saturday. Wayne Newsome with a solid 33 and Jesse Shanks with 28. Manager-coach Red Davis credited the team's success fine play of Billie Rhodes, Harold Pavolini, Royce Shiyon, Larry Favre, Cooter Zimmerle and Oscar Lofton. Wayne Dugas was benched with an injured ankle.

In the girls' final Picayune held a four-point lead at half-time but Logtown came back in the third period to take a one point lead. Picayune went into the closing minutes with a one-point lead but a final tally sunk by top scoring Bertie Dawsey salted away the trophy.

The Logtown girls had beaten Pass Christian Wednesday 31-24. High scorers in the finals were Bertie Dawsey with 16 and Gloria Dawsey 11.

What Industry employs the most people in Mississippi?

The honor of creating the most jobs in Mississippi can be claimed by several industries. High on the list is the beer industry with its 16,295 people on the payrolls of 87 wholesalers and 5000 retailers in the state.

The legally-regulated beer industry also adds to Mississippi's prosperity through its $28 million investment in buildings, trucks, fixtures and equipment.

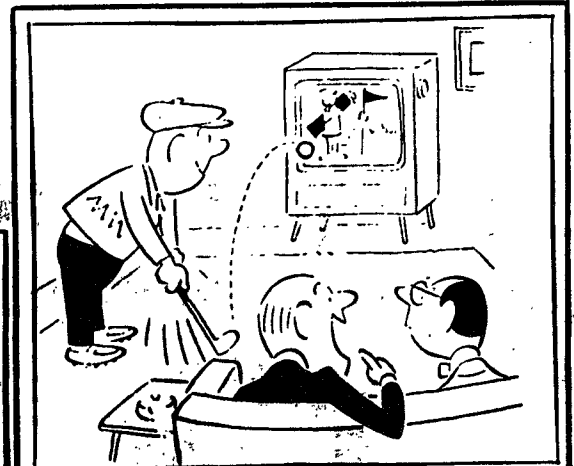

4th largest taxpayer

In addition to other economic benefits, beer brings over $4 million a year in state taxes to support Old Age pensions, rural roads, schools and other necessary functions of local and state government.
